As the most prestigious event in the art calendar opens in Italy, we round up UAL's Venice Biennale 2017 highlights.

Representing Wales

Turner Prize nominee and Chelsea graduate James Richards will be representing Wales in Venice. The BBC report that "Richards will work with Cardiff's Chapter arts centre to create an installation in a former convent on the banks of one of Venice's famous canals." The artist told the BBC: "It's really exciting, it's a real honour. It's always touching when people nominate you for something, particularly this. I grew up around the corner from Chapter so a lot of my first experiences with art were there, so it was a very exciting invitation."
